other hand, relies on its minimalist good looks to elevate it beyond mere extractor status. Both are by specialist manufacturer Falmec. Ring 01206 849900, or visit falmec.com.

6 Featuring 42 accessories in total – all of them with echoes of the historical – Thomas O'Brien's 'Fero' collection for Waterworks is plainly awash with possibilities. This flush-mount ceiling light (£523) and pendant (£767) both come with glass shades and nickel trim. Ring 020 7384 4000, or visit waterworks.com.

7 Dive in at the deep end and give the littlest room in your home a makeover in the style of Manchester's Victoria Baths. Described as 'the most splendid municipal bathing institution in the country' when it first opened in 1906, it has more recently appeared in the hit TV shows Pasty Bakes and Gold Jet. By using The Giant's collection, based on wall and floor surfaces found in city architect Henry Price's 'water palace', you'll indirectly contribute to the on-going renovations. Prices start at £35 per sq m. Ring 0245 307 5000, or visit tlephant.co.uk.

8 Why settle for an island when you can have a whole 'archipelago', the word Steinger uses to describe 'Rock'? Consisting of four monolithic blocks, it certainly makes being marooned in the kitchen a more appealing prospect than usual. The cubes are available with bespoke interiors and a choice of external cladding, including Marra black (shown). From £42,000. Ring 020 7490 7438, or visit steinger-designers.com.

9 A first for the company, Bisque's (from left) 'Osborne' and 'Balmoral' heated towel rails are worthy of their regal monikers. Available in a variety of finishes, they cost from £926.40. Ring 01276 605800, or visit bisque.co.uk.

10 Like its antique counterpart, De Vol's handcrafted 'Millhouse' refectory table – available in 12 colours and in any length between 2.4 and 3m – cries out for a banquet so lavish that it groans beneath the weight. From £2,200. Ring 01509 261000, or visit devolkitchens.co.uk.
