

CLOCKWISE FROM ABOVE

To create a spa-like bathroom in a period property or awkward space choose a shower enclosure that can be tailored to suit. DS476 three-sided cubicle from £3,152 for a 100cm x 76cm size, Design Solutions range from Aqata Sleek and efficient heating with somewhere to warm towels is key. Quill radiator in a mirror finish, from £905, Bisque

Combine classic styling with state-of-the-art showering. Waldorf 12-inch showerhead with traditional wall-mounted shower arm in chrome-plated brass, £414, Crosswater Invest in quality fixtures and fittings crafted from the finest materials for luxury with longevity. Beyond Crystal three-hole basin mixer in a soft gold finish, £8,249, THG Paris at Bathrooms International Underfloor heating is also a must, as is a heated towel rail to keep warm robes and towels at hand when emerging from the bath or shower.

Consider the colour scheme and finishing touches in order to achieve a design that looks complete.

“Look for soft, delicate shapes and natural materials,” advises Barbara Payne, head of product at radiator company Bisque. “Sophisticated shades of beige and grey are an excellent choice for their slightly softer properties. Look for plush, plump towels and robe-style dressing gowns, and store them on a beautifully designed towel radiator, particularly one with large looping rails, to ensure the towels are always served warm and dry.”

Lighting is a key element that can enhance the overall effect of a beautifully designed space. Soft lighting on dimmer switches allows for a subtle approach that can instantly and easily be adjusted to suit any ambience and keep the room cosy at times. Candles in favourite scents will allow the room feel welcoming, as will a few carefully selected accessories – perhaps a potted succulent or two and a stack of paperbacks or magazines to read at leisure. This is the time to indulge, relax and unwind.

The most sought-after materials include everything

Consider the colour scheme and finishing touches in order to achieve a design that looks complete. “Look for soft, delicate shapes and natural materials,” advises Barbara Payne, head of product and marketing at radiator company Bisque. “Sophisticated shades of beige and grey are an excellent choice thanks to their slightly softer properties. Look for plush, plump towels and robe-style dressing gowns, and store them on a beautifully designed towel radiator, particularly one with large looping rails, to ensure the towels are always served warm and dry.”

