Bisque introduces Ombré radiators

October 23, 2018

London-based radiator manufacturer Bisque has introduced a new Ombré finish in six shades. Carefully applied from light to dark on each of the brand's Classic models, the finish can be used in coherence with its colour matching service, where it can be paired with paints from Farrow & Ball and Little Greene.

The new Ombré style is the latest bespoke finish to join the Classic's range in 2018, having debuted matte black and rose copper designs earlier this year. Available in both horizontal and vertical models, the Classic is Bisque's most versatile design; referred to as the old school-style radiator for its nostalgic aesthetic and efficient heat output. In addition to thirty-eight stock sizes, the model can also be made-to-order in specific sizes and colours.
